Job Title: Intern, Communications
Base Location: Singapore (hybrid)
Period of internship: 3 months (Mar-Jun) Full-time or Part-time (3 days/week)
Remuneration: This is a paid internship

COMPANY PROFILE:

The Asia Pacific Leaders Malaria Alliance (“APLMA”) unites 22 governments in Asia Pacific who have committed to eliminating malaria in the region by 2030. APLMA translates evidence to advocate for policy change at the highest levels of government and supports leadership collaboration across the region. By convening senior officials beyond health, evidence monitoring and reporting on progress and bottlenecks and facilitating cross-border collaboration, APLMA supports and provides governments and political leaders access to regional and national insights, as well as visibility on the game-changing approaches and tools they need to end malaria.

ROLE:

The Government of Papua New Guinea will be hosting the Asia Pacific Leaders’ Summit on Malaria Elimination in partnership with APLMA on 6-7th June 2024. Through this Leaders’ Summit, the region will showcase its progress, share successful approaches, and secure resources and commitments from partner governments and international organizations to further accelerate malaria elimination efforts.

This is an opportunity for an intern to assist the team in implementing our campaign to ensure the success of the Leaders’ Summit and of APLMA’s advocacy efforts. In this hybrid position, the interns will be based at our Secretariat in Singapore and participate in regular in-person meetings with the team. The intern will not be expected to travel as part of this internship.

SCOPE OF WORK:

- Support in content creation by developing angles and writing draft copy for blog posts, op-eds, social media, and others as needed.
- Conduct desk research for various communications outputs on topics including malaria financing, community engagement, malaria in Melanesia, gender equality, among others.
- In line with the communications plan, support in stakeholder mapping and development of communications materials for key partners.
- Support in building the event campaign on social media and through partner networks.
- Conduct media monitoring and social listening on the Leaders’ Summit and relevant topics.
- Review visuals including social media cards, videos, website, and event materials.

REQUIREMENTS:

- Current or recently graduated undergraduate or graduate student in mass communications, journalism, marketing, public relations or related fields.
- Must be self-motivated with strong time management skills.
- Relevant experience in public health, working with government stakeholders, and/or event management would be a plus.

To apply, please send your resume, cover letter and at least one writing sample to aalonzi@aplma.org by 22 March 2024.
